Mysuru gets Rs. 83.36 crore under Karnataka's Mahatma Gandhi Nagar Vikas Yojana

- Rs. 50.76 crore taken away to adjust funds for pending NURM drinking water project
- One-time grant to fund comprehensive development of basic facilities

By S.T. Ravikumar

Mysuru, Dec. 30- In a move that will significantly boost the development of Mysuru City, the State Government has sanctioned grants for various development initiatives under Mahatma Gandhi Nagar Vikas Yojana (MGNVY). Mysuru is one among the 10 City Corporations in Karnataka to get the funds to carry out developmental works.

In all, Rs. 1,325 crore has been sanctioned to 10 City Corporations in the State including Mysuru. Interestingly, of the Rs. 150 crore sanctioned to Mysuru, only Rs. 99.24 crore will be available for Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) as Rs. 50.76 crore has already been taken off and adjusted to the drinking water project taken up under JnNURM scheme that has been reconstituted with a revised project estimate of Rs. 229.93 crore.

Of the Rs. 99.24 crore available funds, again Rs. 9.92 crore has been reserved in case the project overshoots its estimate and one percent of the funds is reserved for administrative expenses. So the actual amount the MCC can spend under MGNVY is just Rs. 83.36 crore.

While other nine cities have lost 10 percent of the funds (due to overshoot and administrative costs), Mysuru is a major loser as Rs. 50.76 crore has been taken away.

Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway to be completed by mid-2022

- Works taken up under Bharatmala Pariyojana Phase I
- Envisaged as Economic Corridor between two cities

Mysuru, Dec. 30 (BCT)- Vehicle users will have to wait till mid-2022 for a smooth ride on the 140-odd-km Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway that is being upgraded to a 10-lane highway and as an Economic Corridor. The 10 lanes include four service roads on either sides of the six-lane main carriageway.

The National Highways Authority of India has taken up the core works at an estimated cost of Rs. 7,400 crore and once the project is realised, commuters between Bengaluru and Mysuru can travel the distance in just about 90 minutes from the present 3 hours.

In reply to questions raised by P.C. Mohan, MP for Bengaluru Central in Lok Sabha recently, the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways (MoRTH) said that 85 percent of the land required for the project has been acquired. The scope of the work also includes construction of nine major bridges, 44 minor bridges and four Road Over Bridges.

Transforming India to glory

The exercise of imagining the future of an individual aided by either a positive outlook or negative thoughts and pondering over the country's social fabric in foreseeable future taking into account the current scenario are different cups of tea. Public speakers, knowledgeable about the land's history of several centuries, writers of articles referring to its distant past and even many lay people take fascination to glorify the people of those eras for their track record in many areas of human pursuit, particularly literature, music, sculpture, agriculture, culinary inventions, civil engineering and so on, not to forget statecraft under the rule of different dynasties that endured for long periods. In the backdrop of the land's identity and its people's customs still intact to a considerable degree to this day, one is obliged to feel concerned about what portends for the country's later generations, while the world is watching the goings on all over the land, particularly the clear signs of disintegration of its social fabric.

The French astrologer, physician and reputed seer Michel de Nostredame, commonly known as Nostradamus (1503-1566) is credited with having accurately predicted many major world events. English writer H.G. Wells (1866-1946), reputed for his prophetic vision, foresaw the advent of aircraft, space travel, nuclear weapons, satellite television and also WWW (World Wide Web). Advocates of disaster amidst us aver that all will never be like the glorious part in the country again. The onus of proving them wrong is that of the land's diaspora, now and later.

Voices of many speakers in public glare reflect the potential of the land's people at large to arrest the ongoing turmoil as a result of the uncompromising discord between the law-makers and the agencies as well as outfits staging road-rage drawing the land's masses into their grasp and influence. The problems bugging different sections of the country's people and the factors causing most of those problems are being spelt out in words and figures. Many would remark that the unhappy social scene in our times is mostly self-created by both stockholders and stakeholders, as succinctly expressed in Kannada namely swayamkritha aparadha.

The wise in the land have prescribed simple-sounding measures for transforming India from the present turmoil-bugged land to a tranquil nation by empowering the able bodied millennials to engage themselves in socially useful and economically rewarding work through relevant education and training. The tribe vested with the responsibility of acting on these measures will do well to walk-the-talk.

MATCH-MAKING FOR COWS: Owners of cows in Madhya Pradesh can now find perfect matches for them, thanks to the Animal Husbandry Department, which has complied a match-making database of some 200 bulls. The database, called 'Sire Directory', contains copious amount of information on the bulls. The information is divided into three parts. The first deals with the breed, parentage and age of the bulls. The second is about the milk production capacity of the mother and the fat percentage in the milk. The third details tests undertaken to ascertain diseases. The directory would be updated regularly and put online for better access.

Swiss Scientists create rainbow chocolate

Switzerland : A group of scientists from ETH Zurich and FHNW University of Applied Sciences and Arts Northwestern Switzerland recently filed a patent for a process that makes chocolates shimmer in rainbow colors without using food coloring.

The story began on the corridors of a university building, when food scientist Patrick Rühs, materials scientist Etienne Jeoffroy and physicist Henning Galinski started chatting about chocolate during their coffee break. Then they started conducting playful experiments in the kitchen of ETH University.

Through some trial and error, the Swiss scientists strike gold – a colourful shimmer appeared on the chocolate, and after refining the process the slight shimmer turns into a glow.

Airline offers edible vanilla-flavoured coffee cups

New Zealand : Munching on the cup in which you just drank your coffee doesn't sound too appetizing at first, but what Air New Zealand has come up with recently might change your mind.

The airline has started serving coffee in edible cups on its flights to minimise onboard waste production. In the past, it had switched to biodegradable cups on flights and in its lounges.

To go a step further, the airline collaborated with Twiice, a family business based in New Zealand that specializes in making edible cups, reported CNN Travel.

The new cups, tailor-made for Air New Zealand, have been brought out in vanilla flavour and are resistant to melting from warm fluids, such as coffee.

Mysuru, Dec.30 (MK&KS)- Two women, who went to a jewellery store on Bengaluru-Nilgiri Road (B.N. Road), have cheated the shop owner by giving fake gold ornaments and buying original gold ornaments weighing 58 grams on Saturday.

Fight over petty reasons: Lovers jump into pond

Srirangapatna, Dec. 30 (KS) - A fight over a petty issue has led to lovers jumping into a water pond in a bid to commit suicide resulting in the 26-year-old youth getting drowned and his lover being saved by the public at Palahalli yesterday.

The deceased youth is Arjun. Arjun and the 19-year-old girl were from Palahalli.

Booktalk

A worthy role model

The narrative of prose fiction, being shorter than a novel and longer than a short story by the authors, rich in sentimental tone, originally written by the first author in Kannada under the title ಮರಳಿ ಹಳ್ಳಿಗೆ (Marali Hallige) brings to mind the work of American Novelist Pearl S. Buck (1892-1973) titled The Good Earth (1931) in style, while this work is a blow-by-blow account dramatising the life of a village boy, a typical of the likes of India's gen next.

Given the yawning gap between the attractions of living in supreme comfort in cities and depressing conditions in the land's villages triggering exodus of rustics in search of livelihood, the novel's central character Neelakanta stands out by virtue of his steadfast, single-minded pursuit of excellence as a student and as an ideal son first and a kind parent later in life. His rare qualities of agreeable family and social conduct with the underlying message of humility and gratitude may be missed by readers amidst the elaborate presentation of life's events in their greatest detail.

The lines of the foreword by a reputed littérateur serve as the summary of the work, presented in four chapters including his selfless monumental contribution to transforming the village of his birth, Kallur (a few miles from Mysuru on the road to Kollegal as stated in the novel) from a non-descript hamlet into one of all round prosperity. If the life of Neelakanta Bhat of Kallur, built brick-by-brick as it were with many citizens extending their help to him in multiple ways, as narrated by the authors in a highly readable manner can change the mindset of typical youths chasing greener pastures abroad, the authors are sure to feel amply rewarded.

Salvation from sorrow

Jain Acharya Maha-shraman's simple-to-follow prescriptions for leading a purposeful and satisfying life free from sorrow by limiting desires presented in this booklet drawing from Rajasthani literature conforms to the Kannada saying Asseye dukhhakke moola which translates to "Desire is the root cause of sorrow."

The guidelines suggested by the monk are based on Jain Philosophy focussed on eschewing anger, ego, greed and attachment to worldly things. His five maxims of spiritual practice — 1. Mind-body harmony, 2. Restraint of reaction, 3. Universal amity, 4. Restraint on food (mithaahara) and 5. Restraint of speech (mithabhashana) — are present through anecdotes drawn from the ways of life in society. The benefits of controlling anger and avoiding harsh words through continuous practice can be appreciated by reading the biographies of great personalities and learn how calmly they dealt with life's problems bugging everyone, according to the Monk, respected for dedicating his life to elevate spirituality, culture and human conduct. — BRS

More Plays, Not Festivals
should be Rangayana's priority
Addanda Cariappa to take charge as new Director tomorrow

Mysuru, Dec.30 (SBD&DM)- The 58-year-old senior theatre personality from Kodagu, Addanda C. Cariappa, who was recently appointed as Director of Rangayana, Mysuru, will assume office tomorrow at 11 am. Star of Mysore caught up with him over telephone for a brief chat. Excerpts...

SOM: Tell us about your association with Rangayana?

Cariappa: I have been associated with Rangayana since many years. Now the Government has appointed me as its Director. It is not appropriate to chalk out programmes straight away. The programmes must be first discussed with the theatre repertory's Assistant Director, Ranga Samaja and artistes. B.V. Karanth must be credited for setting up Rangayana to promote theatre. I will work with caution to ensure that Karanth's dreams and the intention behind setting up of Rangayana are realised, with more focus on plays.

SOM: What are your plans for the upcoming Bahuroopi National Theatre festival?

Cariappa: I am not new to Bahuroopi festival which is an important event started by former Director Prasanna. With the delay in the appointment of the Director, the festival too may be delayed by about a fortnight. The theme and the plays are yet to be finalised which will be taken up immediately. This time, the theme will be selected with the involvement of public and theatre lovers. Rangayana is people's repertory and everybody should participate in Bahuroopi, which is widely considered as Ranga Jaatre (theatre fair).

SOM: As Rangayana Director, do you have anything to say about the artistes here?

Cariappa: As I have said earlier, Rangayana is exclusively meant for theatre. Artistes should be prepared to perform plays for 30 days continuously when asked. There is a need for practising new plays in Rangayana. As some senior artistes have retired, while a few others are on the verge of retirement, new artistes will be trained under the guidance of senior artistes. We have just around 12 senior artistes left and we need to include artistes from other small theatre groups too.

SOM: What are your plans for taking Rangayana towards youths?

Cariappa: Rangayana has been organising 'College Rangotsava' for the benefit of youths. My objective is to ensure that at least four to five students should join theatre training classes after this event. Till now, 'College Rangotsava' has remained just a play-oriented theatre camp and much more should be done for organising the event in a more scientific manner. I have plans to introduce Sanchari Rangayana, a mobile camp, where senior artistes hold theatre camps at various places for at least 30 days to attract the youth and other enthusiasts to the theatre.

SOM: Lastly, what are your plans for Rangayana?

Cariappa: Rangayana must be more focussed on staging plays rather than organising festivals. It must be a repertory where it should have at least 50 plays ready to be performed anywhere and at anytime. But sadly, at present, the repertory has just about 10 plays, with the practising of plays almost coming to a halt. There should be rehearsals daily and there is an urgent need for new plays to be practised.

Mysuru to get just Rs. 83.36 crore!

Other nine Corporations

The other nine Corporations are Kalaburagi, Hubballi-Dharwad, Mangaluru, Belagavi, Davanagere, Ballari, Vijayapura, Tumakuru and Shivamogga. Of these, only Kalaburagi and Hubballi-Dharwad will get Rs. 150 crore each while the others will get Rs. 125 crore.

The sanctioned amount will help in the creation of infrastructure and ensuring cleanliness in Mysuru, helping it climb up the Swachh Bharat rankings. Incidentally, the amount had been announced by the then Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy when he presented his Budget for 2019-2020 that was accepted by the BJP Government headed by B.S. Yediyurappa with some alterations.

One-time grant

It is a one-time grant and will provide funds for comprehensive development of basic facilities. The funds will be allocated for a period of four years from 2019-2020 to 2023-2024. Corporations have been empowered to prepare an action plan to implement the project and call for tenders as development packages.

Corporations have been directed to reserve 24.10 percent of the MGNVY funds for the development of scheduled caste and scheduled tribe welfare and also allocate money for pending projects taken up under JnNURM (Jawaharlal Nehru National Urban Renewal Mission), AMRUT (Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation) and Swachh Bharat schemes.

Other works that can be taken up with MGNVY funds are drinking water projects, disposal of solid waste, rain water drain works, footpath development, grade-separator and road development works, development of circles and carryout works to ensure the safety of pedestrians and motorists.

MCC is the implementing authority

The Mysuru City Corporation will be the implementing authority for the project and the action plan must be prepared along with project reports on how the funds have been implemented. Enough care must be taken to ensure that there is no repeat of works and change of development works midway.

After the action plan is prepared, the same must be sent for approval to a committee headed by the respective District Minister and comprising members including Deputy Commissioner, Mayor, Deputy Mayor, MLAs, MP, Executive Engineer, Project Director of District Urban Development Cell (DUDC). The Corporation Commissioner will be the Member Secretary.

Checks and balances

Once the action plan is examined in detail by the committee, it will have to be sent to the Directorate of Municipal Administration that will vet the plan and ensure that the plan is in accordance with the project aim.

The action plan will then be approved by a Government committee headed by Urban Development Minister and comprising Urban Development Secretaries, Principal Secretaries, Director of Directorate of Municipal Administration, Chief Engineer of the Directorate, Superintending Engineer or Executive Engineer (technical treasury) of Urban Development Department. Joint Director (projects) of Urban Development Department will be the Member Secretary.

Transparent tenders, quality work

The MCC must ensure that the tenders are called in a transparent manner and the works must have the prescribed quality. Day-to-day monitoring must be done and targets must be set for speedy completion of quality works and accordingly, works must be completed. The Directorate of Municipal Administration too will set up a Monitoring Information System where all the projects will be supervised.

Reacting on the MGNVY funds, MCC Commissioner Gurudatta Hegde told Star of Mysore that the action plan will be prepared to cover developmental aspects of the city. "There is a scope for certain permanent projects. We will discuss in the MCC and consult elected representatives to prepare an action plan and place it before the Committee headed by the District Minister. It will later be sent to the Government for approval," he said.

Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway

'The six-lane Bengaluru-Nidaghatta-Mysuru Road stretch was awarded in two packages in February 2018. Physical progress of about 18 percent has been achieved in the six-lane work on the Bengaluru-Nidaghatta section. The appointed date for work on six-laning of the Nidaghatta-Mysuru section has not been declared," said the note from the Ministry.

Of the total cost of the project that is approximately Rs. 7,400 crore, about Rs. 2,270 crore has already been spent. The scheduled completion time for six-laning of the Bengaluru-Nidaghatta-Mysuru road stretch is 30 months from the appointed date.

The Ministry reply also stated that the project has been taken up under the Bharatmala Pariyojana Phase I approved by the Government of India, under which Bengaluru to Mysuru stretch is envisaged as an Economic Corridor .

The Union Government, in 2014, had declared the earlier State Highway 17 and State Highway 88 as National Highway No. 275. The widening project will begin from Panchamukhi Ganesha Temple after Kengeri town near Bengaluru and ends at Columbia Asia Hospital junction on the Mysuru Ring Road in Mysuru

The NHAI has awarded the project to Bhopal-based Dilip Buildcon and the project is fully funded by the Centre including the distribution of compensation for the land acquired. The Company has taken up the highway works in two packages.

The first package covers the development of 56.1 kms highway stretch from Bengaluru to Nidaghatta in Maddur taluk at the cost of Rs. 3,000 crore including 900 acres of land acquisition. Over 80 per cent land acquisition has been completed.

The second package of works includes the development of 61.2 km highway from Nidaghatta to Mysuru at the cost of Rs.3,500 crore. Over 1,121 acres of land will be acquired for the second package works and 60 percent of land has been acquired.

The project is being taken up under new Hybrid Annuity Mode (HAM) adopted by NHAI. As per this, NHAI will fund just 40 per cent of the total project cost while the remaining 60 per cent will be invested by the contractor or developer. The contractor/investor will get fixed annual revenue while the Highway Authority takes care of the toll collection.

The Company has taken up both the package works after setting base camps for every 20 kilometres. Six bypass roads will be constructed at Srirangapatna, Mandya, Maddur, Channapattana, Ramanagara and Bidadi. An estimated 36,000 vehicles ply between the two cities everyday and traffic density has increased now.

Dog lifters on the rise

- English Cocker Spaniel rescued today near K.D. Circle from being sold off
- Owners advised to implant microchip to trace lost/ stolen dogs

Mysuru, Dec. 30 (BCT)- What started as a single report of dog thefts in city for Star of Mysore has now become a regular news item with a series of canine thefts being reported almost every day.

Desperate dog owners have been reaching out to this newspaper and are complaining that their pets are being snatched away from them.

The first report in this regard was published in these columns on Dec. 23 under the title "Dog-napping: Illegal canine trading on the Rise in Mysuru" where incidents of over six dogs that were stolen was reported.

On Dec. 28, another case surfaced where a Mumbai couple's expensive 'Shih Tzu' breed pair was stolen from their house compound. Following intense media glare, the Metagalli Police managed to trace the dogs in a dingy labour settlement nearby.

English Cocker Spaniel

This morning, Yashaswini, a resident of Vijayanagar Second Stage, called up SOM to report that her pet, a two-year-old English Cocker Spaniel, was stolen yesterday at around 6 am.

She said that as the dog was continuously barking, her mother took Yuva outside the gate. "My mother was with the dog for some time and she came inside the house to drink water. Yuva was not there in front of the gates when my mother returned," she said.

"We rushed to the Vijayanagar Police Station and lodged a complaint. The Police have booked an NCR (Non-Cognizable Report) and handed us an acknowledgement," she said.

Dog lost and found

The pet owner had posted the dog stolen information on social media and today noon, some of her contacts told her that a "Dog for Sale" notice was put up near Krishnadevaraya Circle (K.D. Circle). "My friends told me that the notice was freshly pasted and three phone numbers were listed below and it was mentioned that apart from the dog price, the dog was in Bengaluru and buyers had to pay transportation and other charges," Yashaswini said.

She revealed that her friends called the phone numbers as prospective buyers. "We just took a chance and when we went there we found our dog. There were three persons with our dog. He was up for sale and when we asked why did they steal our dog, they replied that the dog was found abandoned in a park and it followed them. They were clearly lying and were faltering in their answers," Yashaswini said. The Vijayanagar Police were immediately called to the spot and three persons have been taken to the Vijayanagar Police Station for interrogation, she claimed.

Some kennels are abetting illegal dog trade, says Canine Club President

Mysuru, Dec. 30 (BCT)- Some kennels in Mysuru are abetting illegal dog trade as breeding expensive varieties fetch them good returns, said Canine Club of Mysore President B.P. Manjunath. He revealed that the reluctance of many dog owners to install microchips is hampering the efforts to retrieve the pets.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, Manjunath said that there are over 134 kennels in Mysuru that are affiliated to Canine Club of India (CCI). "I will write to the CCI to blacklist kennels that buy stolen dogs and cancel their licences. I will mention in detail about the dog theft cases in Mysuru and appeal to the CCI to take disciplinary action," he said.

Once the kennels are derecognised as they have Police cases against them, they cannot participate in any official dog shows.

He said that as there was a spurt in dog theft cases, he recently conducted a meeting of kennels where owners and breeders were told not to accept or buy stolen dogs. "The moment a seller approaches them with stolen dogs, they must go to the Police or contact Canine Club of Mysore for further action," he said.

What is a microchip?

A microchip is a permanent method of electronic identification. The chip itself is very small, about the size of a grain of rice. The chip is inserted under a dog's skin.

Dogs can be checked for a microchip using a hand-held electronic device that will recognise the unique information held inside the chip. If a pet is stolen or lost, vets and animal shelters can scan the pet for a microchip and contact owner via the database. But with microchip, one cannot track the lost dog.

Track your dog with a smartphone

GPS trackers wound around a pet's neck can help pinpoint the exact location of the pet if he runs away or stolen. The trackers sync up with Smartphones via Bluetooth.

Many trackers are small, light and comfortable enough for the pet to wear all the time. They can be adjusted to fit any neck size. The trackers have removable batteries and generally the units are fully waterproof.

Farmers stage protest against high-tension power line

Mysuru, Dec. 30 (MTY&DM) - Claiming that the Hiriyur-Mysuru 440 KV high tension power line being drawn upon fertile lands in villages coming under Yelwal Hobli has sounded a death knell for the farming community, over a hundred farmers under the banner of Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha and Hasiru Sene (KRRS) staged a demonstration in front of the Deputy Commissioner's office here this morning.

Alleging that the Power Grid Corporation of India had started drawing the power line with the erection of towers on fertile lands in Yelwal Hobli, the farmers said that thousands of acres of fertile land will be lost in Yachegowdanahalli, Hoskote, Doddegowdanakoppalu, Kollur-Naganahalli, Anandur, Chikkanahalli, Meghalapura, Undawadi and Maidanahalli coming under Yelwal Hobli. The destruction of fertile lands meant a great loss of food production and also loss of livelihood of thousands of farmers, they said.

Accusing the Government of invoking a Telegraph Act of the British era to draw the power line without thinking about its adverse effects, the farmers argued that the power line was not only unscientific but a dangerous one. Charging the authorities of acting at the behest of real-estate mafia, they urged the Government to find an alternative route that is much safer and non-destructive and thus save the livelihood of the agrarian community.

Strongly condemning the Union Government's decision to invite Brazilian President Jair Bolsonaro as the Republic Day celebration guest at New Delhi, the protesters wanted the Government to withdraw the invitation to the Brazil President as he is against the interest of the farmers.

Accusing Bolsonaro of ignoring the farmers in Brazil and indulging in rampant corruption, they urged the Government not to invite him as Republic Day guest. They also warned of staging a massive demonstration if the invitation to Bolsonaro is not withdrawn.

KRRS Office-bearers Badagalapura Nagendra, Ashwathnarayan Raje Urs, Lokesh Raje Urs, Marankaiah, Hoskote Basavaraj, Anandur Prabhakar and others took part.

Two-day seminar on e-Kannada begins

Mysuru, Dec.30 (RKB&US)- A two-day seminar on e-Kannada organised by Kannada Development Authority (KDA) and Department this morning at the premises of Administrative Training Institute here.

About 30 Kannada software experts from across the State are participating in the seminar where resource persons would speak on various topics pertaining to Kannada software.

Inaugurating the programme writer T.V. Venkatachala Shastry observed that people today tend to mix English words while speaking in Kannada which dilutes the essence of Kannada. He suggested people to practice speaking in pure Kannada. He pointed out that dictionaries are not being referred now which is bad. He said that documentation in Kannada should be total as it would be useful for the future generation.

Presiding over the programme KDA Chairman T.S. Nagabharana opined that Kannada language need a lot of technology input which would strengthen e-Governance. ATI Joint Director V. Bhagyalakshmi, Chief Minister's E-Governance Advisor Belur Sudarshan and others were present.

Vaastu-Feng Shui & Bio-energetics

By S.B.S.Surendran
Accredited Master Feng Shui Consultant

Drawing good energy

In the early times, Feng Shui was known as Kanyu, or 'The Law of Heaven and Earth.' Later on, it was coined as Feng Shui which literally translates as 'Wind Water' during the Eastern Jin Dynasty and this was based on the classic called as 'Book of Burial.'

At the basic level, Traditional Feng Shui is classified into two parts. First known as 'Ti-Li' is a study of the energy flows across the land and its effect on a building. The second is known as 'Chai-Yun,' which examines the flow of energy within a building and its effect on the occupants.

The universe has primarily two kinds of energy which can be called as visible and invisible. The energy existing in landforms and external architectural features which are visible because it manifests itself physically whereas the Invisible energy is what flows throughout the inside of a structure. Though invisible energies cannot be seen, by adapting the science of Feng Shui, it can be felt and neutralised if required.

It is said that when wind and water move gently on the earth, the planet stays healthy and vibrant; the same goes for the home. Hence, being eco-conscious is about creating a positive flow of energy on earth. After all, we need to give back what we take from earth and hence the individual actions have a global impact. Incorporating green ideology into a building can positively affect the health, prosperity and career too.

The science of Feng Shui evaluates the energy of a building's architecture using three broad characteristics like Stability of a building in terms of its construction by looking at its overall strength whether it is sitting on pillars etc., next we look for the Balance which is looking at the symmetry and finally, its Smoothness where one looks for the exterior projections sharp corners, etc. and its conduciveness for smooth flow of energy.

Excess of anything is bad, hence too much or too less light is also considered as an imbalance. Avoid ceiling-to-floor windows or skylights in bedrooms.

From the Feng Shui interior perspective, the areas to be observed and taken care are as follows:

• Ensure that the main door of a home or business is not in direct alignment with either a secondary entrance or a large window.

• Open or exposed overhead beams, rough features, vaulted ceilings, enhance negative energy.

• Narrow corridors, maze-like corridors generate stagnation and the flow of negative energy.

• Excess of anything is bad, hence too much or too less light is also considered as an imbalance. Avoid ceiling-to-floor windows or skylights in bedrooms.

From the decor perspective, balance the colours and create a supportive atmosphere. The 'Chi' in a human body is the life energy, but it can change day to day. Hence, picking colours that complement the Chi and mood in relationship to the characteristics of the personality one would like to portray brings out the best in a person and generates a favourable aura and energy within the premises.

It's no surprise that when the Chi is balanced, people present themselves to others in a more confident and desirable way, which in turn draws favourable people towards them.

Braving challenges, Pejawar Seer had brought about social harmony

Mysuru, Dec.30 (SBD&DM)- Pejawar Mutt Seer Sri Vishwesha Theertha Swamiji, who passed away yesterday, had brought about social harmony in the city by building a bridge between communities, overcoming challenges.

The story goes back to a decade ago when the Seer visited the city for his annual Chaturmasya in 2009. Even as he was engaged in Chaturmasya Vratha, the Swamiji took out a padayatra in Dalit dominated localities such as Gandhinagar, Kailasapuram, Manjunathapura, Ashokapuram, J.P.Nagar Railway Colony and other areas. This padayatra became a subject of debate across spectrums and the padayatra also drew criticisms from certain quarters.

Chitradurga's Basavamurthy Maadara Chennaiah Swamiji, while welcoming the Seer's action, had wondered whether a Dalit Seer will receive the same honour when he visits a Brahmin colony. Sri Vishwesha Theertha Swamiji, who took serious note of Maadara Chennaiah Swamiji's remarks, initiated for the Dalit Seer's padayatra in Brahmin dominated residential areas. The initiative was taken up by Samarasya Vedike, with MLA S.A. Ramdas, RSS leaders Vadiraj and Bhaskar and other leaders visiting Maadara Chennaiah Swamiji at Chitradurga and inviting him to undertake padayatra in Brahmin dominated areas. Accepting the invitation, Maadara Chennaiah Swamiji undertook padayatra in Brahmin dominated Krishnamurthypuram, during which the Seer was performed pada-puja and honoured. However, Vishwesha Theertha Swamiji stayed away from the padayatra, in order to send a message that the padayatra must be dalit Seer centric.

After completing the padayatra, Maadara Chennaiah Swamiji went straight to Ramamandir in Krishnamurthypuram, where he joined Vishwesha Theertha Swamiji to send a message of harmony between communities.

In another instance, Vishwesha Theertha offered floral tributes to the statue of Dr.B.R. Ambedkar at Ashokapuram Park and also visited Mahakali temple located on 3rd Cross in Ashokapuram and Ramamandira, which was widely appreciated by the public.

Manjunathapura residents recall Pejawar Swamiji's visit

Mysuru, Dec.30(MK&DM)- With the entire country mourning the demise of Pejawar Mutt Seer Sri Vishwesha Theertha Swamiji, residents of Manjunathapura, which is a part of Gokulam, recalled that the Seer had visited their Colony twice.

Manjunathapura's Sri Veeranjaneya Swamy Cultural Trust member Ravi said that Manjunathapura, which is dominated by Dalit colonies, became well-known only after the Seer undertook padayatra in the area a few years ago. It was only after this that political leaders, people's representatives and officials began to visit the locality to hear the grievances of the residents.

Also many organisations came forward for funding the education of Dalit students in the locality, Ravi recalled and added that the Seer's padayatra transformed the very nature of the locality.

Gayathri, a resident of Manjunathapura, recalled the Swamiji's visit to her house during the padayatra.

Pointing out that the Swamiji had a few encouraging words for her cancer-stricken mother Rachamma, Gayathri said that she felt as though God had visited them.

A festive atmosphere prevailed over the entire colony then and her mother Rachamma had recovered, thanks to the Seer's kind words, she noted.

The Seer undertook padayatra in the locality for the second time in September last, when he had said that he had come out of fondness and affection towards Dalit community. During his visit, the Seer had also inaugurated Sri Veeranjaneya Cultural and Educational Trust.

WORD OF THE DAY

Fulgent

Pronunciation: FULL-jint.
Meaning: Dazzlingly bright : radiant.
Origin: "The weary Sun betook himself to rest; — / Then issued Vesper from the fulgent west." That's how the appearance of the evening star in the glowing western sky at sunset looked to 19th-century poet William Wordsworth. Fulgent was a particularly apt choice to describe the radiant light of the sky at sunset. The word derives from the Latin verb fulgēre, meaning "to shine," a root which is itself akin to the Latin flagrare, meaning "to burn." English speakers have been using fulgent to depict resplendence since at least the 15th century.
Example: "Reigning as queen of the ball was Miss Skylar Nicole Ballard.... Her majesty's regal ensemble included a gown of white silver lace, tulle and regency organza.... Completing the raiment were ... the fulgent crown and scepter." — The Times-Picayune.

THE ODD WORD

Fadoodle

Nonsense.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Fairy-tale ending

Meaning: A perfect, joyful ending to a story, like those often found in fairy tales.
Origin: Before we look at the origin of the phrase 'fairy-tale ending' let's just say something about its spelling. Like many compound words that began as two words, a 'fairy tale' has become conjoined with a hyphen to become a 'fairy-tale'. Some pairs of words, for example 'birth place' and 'blood stained' have gone the full distance to become 'birthplace' and 'bloodstained', but 'fairy-tale' isn't quite there yet. One might find the expression spelled as 'fairy tale, 'fairy-tale' or 'fairytale'. Nevertheless, the proper way to spell the expression we are looking at here is 'fairy-tale ending'. The first metaphorical uses of 'fairy tale' and 'fairy story', that is, uses that don't relate to actual stories about fairies, are found in texts from the 17th century. For example, this piece from the English clergyman John Swan in Speculum Mundi, 1635: And as for the Fayrie tales of the Lamiæ, they nothing belong to this creature: neither be those common reports of Sphinx his riddle, any other then fables. It took another two centuries before 'fairy-tale ending' began to be used. Here's an early example in print from Feb. 1854, in Household Words, the weekly magazine produced by Charles Dickens: I should not have been sorry to have had the old fairy-tale ending affixed to this true story, 'And they lived together very happily for ever after'.
